MORRISON Black Raspberry

The new MORRISON BLACKCAP has been widely tested in several states and was found to be tops among blackcaps. It is larger and firmer than the Cumberland and holds its size to the last of the picking season. Berries will not crumble and are very firm, dark and glossy. They're good for market or table use. Try a few.

MASTODON

The Most Popular Everbearer

The well known MASTODON, one of the greatest and oldest everbearers, is a real standby. It is very popular and in greater demand than any other variety. Generally grown for big profits, is a real money-maker at roadside stands and on the market. MASTODON will bear a heavy crop from sixty to ninety days after planting, and will bear until frost. MASTODON makes an excellent growth for a fruit bed of strong, healthy plants which are very productive. Berries are very large, sweet and of good quality and fine flavor. Our MASTODONS are 100% hardy, healthy and well-rooted plants. Order some for your garden—make wonderful jams and jellies.

MINNESOTA 1166 Now Named "Evermore"

Originated by the Minnesota Experiment Station, this everbearer is one of the hardiest and best grown. MINNESOTA 1166 yields as much or more fruit than any everbearer we have grown. It produces well branched fruit stems with large, long-pointed berries—dark red in color, solid all the way thru. Rich and sweet in flavor and very firm, MINNESOTA 1166 is an ideal variety for home or shipping. Being a very good plant maker, we suggest that you plant MINNESOTA 1166 further apart than you would any other everbearer. This will give you a very much better fruiting row.

The newest of the everbearing strawberries. This variety was originated in northern Michigan and promises to be one of the best everbearers ever grown.

BEARS FRUIT 60 DAYS AFTER PLANTING. Plants set in April and May will start to bear fruit in June and July, and will continue to bear until frost. The new Superfection will bear a full crop again next spring and summer.

Berries are large, round in shape, red all the way through and of firm texture. Superfection produces a heavy fruiting row on most any soil and forms fruit stems on the young runner plants making it a heavy fruit producer. We urge you to try the new SUPERFECTION for home use or profit. The fruit will command high prices at roadside stands and markets.

Cultivated BLUEBERRIES

Profitable as well as ornamental—plant CULTIVATED BLUEBERRIES for table use or market. Blueberries are three or four times as large as the wild huckleberries. From two to five bushes will give enough fruit for canning and pies. Bushes are dark green, turning to dark red in late fall and winter, making a very good ornamental shrub. Blueberries like an acid soil. Use peat, rotted leaves or humus to make soil acid.

RANCOCAS

Early, very large, firm and hardy berries with very sweet flavor.

JERSEY

Mid-season, largest of all Blueberries, is excellent for home use and shipping.

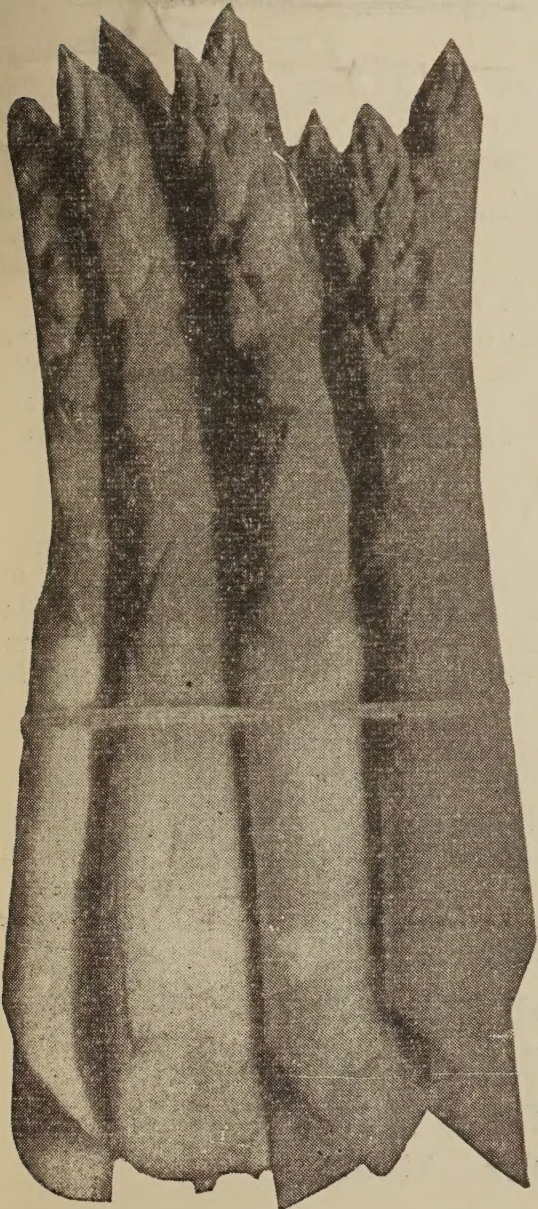

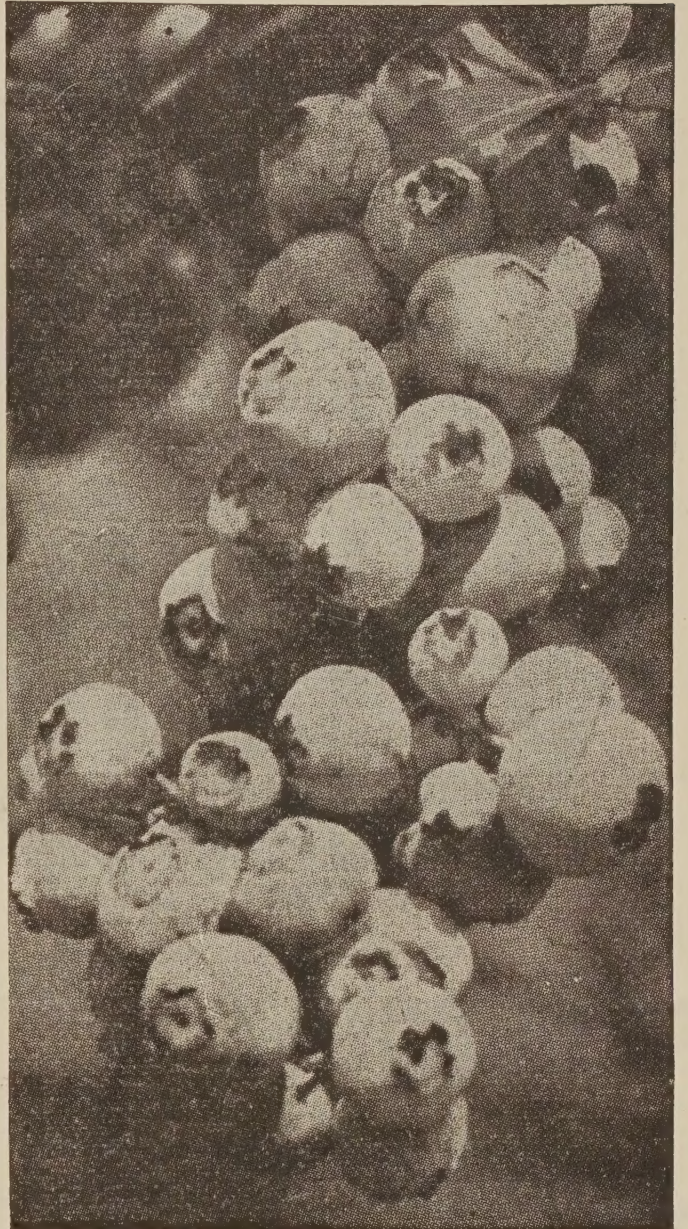

RUBEL

Very late, recommended for commercial use. Berries very firm, large and of extra good quality. Plants are hardy, vigorous and very productive.
